

Superheroes: Writing tasks

Letter to Dad

Think back over the day's adventure. What an amazing day it has been! Now that all the missing items have been found, including the gold necklace your dad sent to your mum, you want to tell him all about it.

Write a letter explaining how 'Lightning Worm' helped save the day. Are you going to reveal the fact that you are the superhero? Or will you keep that secret?

You might include.....

- a list of what went missing
- how the real super villain was caught

Remember.....

- To write in the past tense
- To explain how you felt, not just what happened

My Day as a Superhero!

Imagine you are a superhero for a day. What superpower would you have?

Would you travel as fast as lightning, become invisible, fly, time travel or talk to animals? What other superpowers can you think of?

How did you use your superpower?

Did you have an adventure?

Did you help someone or something in trouble?

Remember

- To describe how you felt as a superhero
- To use lots of powerful adjectives

Nature's Superheroes

Worms are amazing creatures and play a very important role in looking after the Earth.

Create a fact file about Earthworms including as many fascinating facts about them as you can.

You might include.....

- Why they are nature's chief recyclers
- How they reproduce
- How they provide food for other creatures

Super Similes

Create a list poem using similes to describe different superpowers.

In the experience you could move 'as quick as lightning'. What other superpowers could you describe in this way? You might include

You might include.....

- as strong as.....
- as quietly as
- jumping as far as.....

Remember.....

- a simile compares one thing with another to create a more powerful description
- start each new simile on a new line

Stylish Superheroes

Design a superhero's costume. Your costume will need to suit your superhero's power: it needs to be practical!

Your costume design should reveal something important about your superhero.

Your design might include....

- details such as colours and types of material
- special gadgets or accessories with explanations of how these are used
- a logo

Remember....

- Label your costume clearly
- Use powerful adjectives
